

Ordinary PEOPLE

Extraordinary HEROISM

At Courage Worldwide, we meet heroes every day—those who we admire for their courage and outstanding achievements. No one exhibits this more than the girls who call Courage House their home.

When a child escapes or is recovering from a trafficking situation, her decision to recreate the life she was born to lead is an act of bravery few of us will ever experience. The healing process is arduous, but once she has begun her unique journey of healing at Courage House, reaches grade level, graduates from high school or college, and creates healthy relationships with people invested in her future, her heroism encourages others to do the same.

Heroes are also found across our local communities.

For nearly two decades Courage Worldwide has been able to serve our children in the USA and Africa thanks to individuals, foundations, and corporations who, like us, believe children should not be for sale. People like you who no longer sit on the sidelines, pretending this doesn't happen, who instead offer time, talent, and treasures to ensure a bright future for each vulnerable child.

Thank you! Because of the generosity and faithfulness you and others demonstrate, our girls believe they, too, were created on purpose, for a purpose.

Our work is not yet done. Millions are still being sexually exploited in a world where there is a severe lack of safe homes and services.

Having focused on building and solidifying our program since we began in 2005, we are pleased to share we are on the brink of significant growth. Almost daily we are asked to bring a Courage House to new cities and countries. As a result, our vision is to bring a Courage House to every city around the world that sees a need. Only then can every child victim of trafficking have a safe place to call home, where they can begin their healing journey.

We invite you to become Hero Partners for our Hero Children.

As states like Nevada and Utah, as well as countries like Kenya and Malawi, reach out on behalf of the children in temporary solutions after escaping those who enslaved them, Courage Worldwide is actively engaged in rapid-growth strategies.

- In Nevada, we are working with state, county and city leaders to create legislation that will adequately support the needs of these children, while researching locations for establishing Courage Houses in Reno and Las Vegas. Our plan is to open a Northern Nevada Courage House by October 2024.
- We are in early discussions in Utah, California, and other states to assess the need, review state licensing policies and identify potential sites.
- Our East Africa leadership is exploring ways to expand into neighboring countries and recreate the four campuses in Tanzania in other locations.

We are also experiencing a growth in leadership to drive these ambitious goals through our Governing Board and Chapter Boards in both Nevada and Tanzania.

20 YEARS OF COURAGE

The Campaign to Deliver Hope

In 2025 we will be celebrating 20 years as an organization and 15 years providing direct services to minor victims of sex trafficking. To commemorate these milestones, we invite you to celebrate with us by committing to the campaign that will seal our future and help countless children worldwide. The level of expansion we are being encouraged to take on is extraordinary and the costs will be significant, and we invite you to consider a transformational commitment.
